

Benches, Baking, and Excitement: Adventures on a Sisters Vacation

Caolan David-jay

Abstract—This paper explores the experiences of three sisters on a vacation together, focusing on the themes of benches, baking, and excitement. Through a qualitative analysis of personal journal entries and photographs, the authors uncover the unique moments of connection, laughter, and bonding that occurred during their trip. The sisters' shared love of benches led them to explore parks and gardens, while their love of baking resulted in trying new recipes and indulging in sweet treats. The excitement of exploring a new city together, trying new experiences, and sharing stories of their past and present lives brought the sisters closer together and strengthened their bond. This study sheds light on the importance of shared experiences, the power of sisterhood, and the joy that can be found in simple pleasures.
